

Personal Safety & Suspicious Activity

GUIDE

Observe • Leave • Report

Trust your instincts, create distance, and report facts. Personal safety comes before collecting information or confronting someone. This guide is a quick reference, not a substitute for instructions from local authorities.

OBSERVE — notice facts when safe

- Location, date, and time.
- What happened or what behavior caused concern.
- Descriptions: clothing, build, distinguishing features, bags, tools, or direction of travel.
- Vehicle make, model, color, license plate/state, damage, and direction of travel.
- Whether there is an immediate risk to a person, property, or public safety.

LEAVE — protect yourself and others

- Move to a safer, populated, well-lit area or secure location.
- Do not confront, follow, block, or physically intervene with a suspicious person.
- Do not put yourself at risk to get a photo, video, plate number, or more details.
- If you are in a vehicle, keep doors locked and leave the area if safe.
- Help children, older adults, and others with access needs get to safety.

REPORT — choose the right response

- Call 911 for immediate danger, a crime in progress, fire, medical emergency, threats of violence, or when urgent help is needed.
- Use a non-emergency reporting option for concerns that are not immediate. Report what you observed rather than making assumptions about someone's identity, intent, or motive.
- Preserve notes after you are safe: time, location, description, vehicle details, direction of travel, and any report number.
